PlusOne will be a platform for gamers to get together with other gamers who do not want to play alone. We are planning on building this product as we have found a need for it in our daily lives. We do not have a specific client at this point as we are building this from an entrepreneurial standpoint. If it is required that we have a cline for whom we are building this project, we have several other gamers who have stated they will play that role for us. Over the course of the semester we will build the three main features of the application: user registration, user profile building / tuning, and matchmaking.
